

Dana Gunders is a Senior Scientist at the Natural Resources Defense Council, where she leads the organization's work on reducing food waste. She recently published her first book, the Waste-Free Kitchen Handbook (September 2015; Chronicle Books), which offers a consumer guide to reducing wasted food from the grocery store to the kitchen. She is also behind the recent launch of Save the Food, a national media campaign targeting consumer food waste, and two widely cited NRDC reports, as the author of "Wasted: How America is Losing Up to 40% of Its Food from Farm to Fork to Landfill" (August 2012) and co-author of "The Dating Game: How Confusing Food Date Labels Lead to Food Waste in America" (September 2013). Dana was also a Steering Committee member for the ReFED Roadmap to Reduce U.S. Food Waste by 20 Percent. Dana has been featured by countless media outlets, including The Dr. Oz Show, Last Week Tonight with John Oliver, CNN, NBC, The New York Times, Wall Street Journal, Washington Post, Los Angeles Times, Chicago Tribune, National Public Radio, Consumer Reports, Cooking Light, and many others. She holds a B.S. and M.S. in Earth Systems from Stanford University, and spends far too much of her free time pondering how to get her one-year-old daughter to throw less food on the floor.
