

Margaret Schuler, Senior Vice President, International Programs Group, World Vision - US

World Vision would like to announce the appointment of Margaret Schuler as the Senior Vice President, International Programs Group in Washington, DC. Ms. Schuler comes to this position from her role as Regional Vice President of World Vision in East Africa. She has worked in the field of relief and development for 25 years with organizations such as IRC, CARE, Save the Children and World Vision. She holds a Bachelor of Science Degree from Washington State University in Animal Physiology and a Masters in International Affairs from Ohio University. Ms. Schuler has focused her work on improving the lives of most vulnerable women and children around the world in both emergency and development contexts. She began her career in Africa as a Peace Corps Volunteer in Tanzania.