

Steve Mathison
Biographical Information

Steve Mathison is Senior Vice President of Acquiring Payments for First Data, a Fortune 300 financial services company that provides secure and innovative payment technology and services to more than six million merchants and financial institutions around the world. In his role, Steve manages First Data's acquiring processing capabilities and the various payment networks associated with payment processing at the point of sale. He also leads the Product Lifecycle function for adopting and launching new payment processing capabilities across First Data. He is a subject matter expert on EMV, and routinely serves as a participant and consultant on multiple payments' industry forums. In addition, he routinely shares his expertise with state and federal policymakers, regulatory update sessions with key payments industry players, and has served as an expert witness for various federal and state legislative bodies across the country.

Steve is based in First Data's Omaha, NE office.