

TARA KRUSE
Co-Head of Data, Reporting and FpML
INTERNATIONAL SWAPS AND DERIVATIVES ASSOCIATION, INC. (ISDA)

Tara Kruse is a Co-Head of Data, Reporting and FpML at the International Swaps and Derivatives Association, Inc. (ISDA) where she is responsible for addressing regulatory issues pertaining to data and trade reporting. In addition to promoting global data harmonization and industry standard identifier solutions, she is responsible for ISDA's advocacy efforts pertaining to reporting in the U.S. (CFTC and SEC) and Canada.

Before joining ISDA, Ms. Kruse was a vice president in the Derivatives Projects Group at Morgan Stanley responsible for implementation of global trade repository reporting for credit and equity derivatives and global cross-asset regulatory reference data. Prior to that, she held the roles of Head of Americas IRCC Derivative Documentation and Global Head of Credit Derivative Documentation Drafting at Morgan Stanley. Prior to that, Ms. Kruse was the global head of Credit Derivatives Documentation at Bear Stearns.