

Timothy L. Buzby
President & Chief Executive Officer
Federal Agricultural Mortgage Corporation (“Farmer Mac”)

Farmer Mac’s President and CEO Tim Buzby is a true champion for this country’s farmers and ranchers and has dedicated his career to helping improve access to capital and lower costs for borrowers in rural America. Since assuming the role in 2012, Tim has led the company through tremendous growth and has been instrumental in the company’s resurgence as a leader in the secondary market for agricultural mortgage loans. Previously, he held the positions of Controller and, subsequently, Chief Financial Officer beginning in 2000.

Tim’s experiences prior to joining Farmer Mac were focused on the mortgage industry, having served as the CFO for a national residential mortgage company and a manager at KPMG, consulting in the mortgage industry. He is a graduate of James Madison University with a Bachelor’s degree in Business Administration and Accounting. He is also a Certified Public Accountant, licensed in Virginia.
