

JEFFREY HAENI

ACTING DIRECTOR - CENTER FOR ENVIRONMENT, ENERGY AND INFRASTRUCTURE, USAID

Jeffrey Haeni is the Acting Director for USAID's Center for Environment, Energy and Infrastructure in the Bureau for Development, Democracy, and Innovation. The Center provides technical leadership for USAID's biodiversity, climate change, energy, ocean plastics, land and resource governance, sustainable landscape, and infrastructure programming. Previously, Dr. Haeni served as USAID's Acting Deputy Assistant Administrator in the Bureau for Economic Growth, Education and Environment (E3) and as the Director for the Office of Energy and Infrastructure, supporting the Agency's multi-billion dollar annual infrastructure and energy portfolio. He has 15 years of experience working on energy sector development in more than 18 countries, and previously served as Chief of USAID's Energy Division where he supported the design, implementation, and evaluation of energy projects. Before joining USAID, Dr. Haeni was an energy specialist on the Economic Policy Staff in the Bureau for African Affairs at the U.S. Department of State and served as an energy advisor to former Representative Rush Holt (NJ-12) in the U.S. House of Representatives. He has a Ph.D. in Materials Science and Engineering from the Pennsylvania State University and a bachelor's degree in Physics from Colgate University.
