

Daniel Twining joined the International Republican Institute (IRI) as President in 2017, where he leads the Institute's mission to advance democracy and freedom around the world. IRI has worked in over 100 countries and is a core institute of the National Endowment for Democracy. Previously, he served as Counselor to the President and Director of the Asia Program at The German Marshall Fund, as a Member of Secretary of State Condoleezza Rice's Policy Planning Staff handling Asia during the George W. Bush administration, as the Foreign Policy Advisor to U.S. Senator John McCain, and as a staff member of the U.S. Trade Representative. He has been an Associate of the U.S. National Intelligence Council, taught at Georgetown University and served as a military instructor associated with the Naval Postgraduate School. Twining serves on the Bush Institute's Advisory Council and the Wilson Center's Asia Advisory Board. He testifies regularly before the U.S. Congress on international affairs, has been a columnist for Foreign Policy and Nikkei, and has written for Foreign Affairs, the Wall Street Journal, the Financial Times, and other publications. Twining has served as an advisor to six presidential campaigns. He graduated with highest distinction from the University of Virginia and from 2004-7 was the Fulbright/Oxford Scholar at Oxford University.
