

Society of American Foresters Policy Director John R. Barnwell has a BS in forest resource management and a graduate degree in city and regional planning from Clemson University. An SAF member since college, his first association with the SAF National Office was as the Henry Clepper Natural Resource Policy Intern in 2008. He was hired as Assistant Director of Forest Policy by SAF in April of 2011 and resides in Washington DC.