Biography for Councilwoman Cynthia Boone

Councilwoman Cynthia Boone was raised in Osage County, Pawhuska, OK and resides on her grandmother's original allotted land. She and her husband will celebrate their 49th wedding anniversary at the end of May. They raised two sons, Tom Jr. and Daniel. Their family is culturally affiliated.

Councilwoman Boone worked for the Indian Health Service for 27 years. During that time, she was responsible for millions of federal dollars for health care for eligible American Indians and Alaska Natives. She was considered an expert in her field.

After retirement several people encouraged her to run for political office on the Osage Minerals Council. She is the only member of the Osage Minerals Council to be elected for 3 consecutive terms, a position she currently holds.
