

Biography of Jestin Dupree

Jestin Dupree is a member of the Fort Peck Tribal Executive Board. Jestin was born and raised in Poplar, MT, graduated from the Poplar High School, and joined the United States Army in 1998. He was a combat veteran, serving our country for over 16 years doing 5 tours of duty overseas as an infantryman.

He retired from Military Service in 2014 as a senior non-commissioned officer. During his service he was stationed stateside in Fort Benning, Georgia, Fort Drum, New York, and Fort Sill, Oklahoma. He deployed to Bosnia, Afghanistan, and three tours to Iraq. During his military service, he had a chance to train and learn some great service members who helped hone his leadership skills which he has relied on in his role on the Fort Peck Tribal Executive Board.

When he returned home, he became a tribal police officer working in the Poplar School District as a school resource officer. He then began his tenure on the Fort Peck Tribal Executive Board. His greatest pride are his children.
