

Jonas G. Hill
Oneida Nation Councilmember

An accomplished self-motivated tribal leader and public servant, Jonas Hill brings a proven track record of effective governance, legislative development, and community engagement. As an elected Councilman serving the Oneida Nation since 2023, he has demonstrated strong leadership in drafting and amending tribal laws, fostering governmental relationships at local, state, and national levels, and advocating for policies that advance tribal sovereignty and economic growth. Jonas' expertise in representing Indigenous interests through lobbying, testimony and strategic communication underscores his ability to influence public policy and promote the welfare of the Oneida Nation.

With prior experience serving as a Commissioner on the Oneida Gaming Commission from 2019 to 2023, Jonas Hill upheld regulatory standards and ensured compliance within tribal gaming operations, reinforcing integrity and transparency in accordance with federal guidelines. Jonas was the youngest elected member on the Oneida Gaming Commission. He continues his knowledge in tribal gaming regulations by completing Gaming Commissioner Certification through National Tribal Gaming Commissioners & Regulators (NTGCR) and Indian Gaming Association (IGA). His advocacy work for health and transitional living initiatives reflects a dedicated commitment to improving community well-being and social resilience. This diverse background in governance, gaming regulation, and community advocacy positions him as a strategic thinker capable of navigating complex policy environments and fostering collaborative solutions.

Recent Graduate from the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay with a Bachelors Degree in Political Science, Minor in Philosophy and holds a technical background in Business Management from Northeast Wisconsin Technical College. Through hands-on knowledge and active participation Mr. Hill possesses a comprehensive understanding of public administration, gaming compliances, and organizational leadership. These academic pursuits complement a robust skill set characterized by a customer-focused approach, strategic problem solving, and meticulous organization and planning. His skill set includes adept problem solving, strategic planning, and stakeholder engagement, complemented by strong customer service orientation. Known for acting with integrity, professionalism, and respect, Jonas excels at building partnerships, facilitating consensus, and leading initiatives that align with tribal, state and federal priorities for community development, sovereignty, and social responsibility. Jonas' active community involvement and dedication to service exemplify a leadership style rooted in transparency, accountability, and a commitment to advancing public interests within tribal and governmental frameworks.

Outside his dedicated work time, he is an amazing father to his most treasured son Gunnar. Jonas enjoys teaching his son to hunt, fish, and participates in community engagement events that foster a sense of culture and community unity.
