

Biography for Jarred-Michael Erickson

Chairman, Confederated Tribes of the Colville Reservation

Jarred-Michael Erickson serves as Chairman of the Colville Business Council, the governmental body of the Confederated Tribes of the Colville Reservation in Washington state. He was first elected to the Colville Business Council in 2019 and has served as Chairman since 2022.

Prior to being elected to the Colville Business Council, Mr. Erickson worked as a wildlife biologist for the Colville Tribes' Fish and Wildlife Department, where his responsibilities included big and small game management, trapping and collaring, preparation of Environmental Assessments for timber sales, and as well as coordination with other governmental entities.

In 2024, Mr. Erickson was appointed to the board of the National Fish and Wildlife Association. This year, Mr. Erickson was named as part of the 2025 class of Native American 40 Under 40 Award honorees by the National Center for American Indian Enterprise Development.