

Director Annamaria Garcia

Director Garcia previously served as Executive Director of the Ozone Transport Commission, which assess and coordinates the development of policies to reduce regional ground-level ozone or “smog” in the Northeast and Mid-Atlantic states. Director Garcia has also served as the Director of Operations and State Programs for the Center for Energy and Climate Solutions, a non-profit that is a division of the Global Environment and Technology Foundation. She holds a B.A. in Biology from Princeton University and an Executive M.B.A from George Washington University.