

Gavin Baker serves as Deputy Director, Public Policy and Government Relations at American Library Association. Previously, he worked at California Common Cause, the Center for Effective Government, and the Scholarly Publishing and Academic Resources Coalition. Gavin earned his M.S. in library and information studies from Florida State University and his B.A. in political science from the University of Florida.