Dan Lips

Dan Lips is a Senior Fellow at the Foundation for American Innovation. Prior to FAI, from 2011 to 2019, Dan worked on the staff of the U.S. Senate Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs Committee, including serving as policy director. Before working on Capitol Hill, Dan served with the Federal Bureau of Investigation, focusing on cybersecurity and intelligence. He earned his bachelor's degree in Politics from Princeton University and his master's degree in Statecraft and National Security Affairs from the Institute of World Politics.