In the appropriate place in the report to accompany H.R. 6395, insert the following new Directive Report Language:

Report on Department of Defense Strategy for Competition Below the Threshold of Armed Conflict

The committee notes that the 2018 National Defense Strategy concludes strategic competition with revisionist states is now the primary concern in U.S. national security. The committee recognizes that these states employ tactics deliberately calibrated to advance their strategic objectives while falling below the threshold of armed conflict. For example, China employs so-called “gray zone” tactics to coerce regional actors, undermine the rules-based international order, and change the status quo while avoiding conflict.

The committee also recognizes that responding to such tactics is neither solely nor primarily the responsibility of the Department of Defense. Rather, the Department’s strategy should be nested within a broader, unified whole-of-government strategy to deter such behavior. However, the committee expects that a significant proportion of strategic competition with revisionist states will occur below the threshold for armed conflict.

Therefore, the committee directs the Secretary of Defense to submit a report to the House Committee on Armed Services by December 1, 2020, on the Department’s strategy for competition below the threshold of armed conflict. The report shall be unclassified without any designation relating to dissemination control but may contain a classified annex. At a minimum, the report shall include:

1. The objectives of such strategy;
2. A summary of any guidance that the Department has produced or received concerning whole-of-government efforts to implement such strategy in accordance with the National Defense Strategy and the National Security Strategy, as applicable;
3. The Department’s primary lines of effort in support of such strategy, the methodology used to define such lines of effort, and a description of how the Department aligns priorities with delegation of tasks;

4. Skillsets, capabilities, and resources required to achieve the objectives of such strategy;
5. Assistance provided to other Departments and Agencies in support of a unified, whole-of-government strategy for competition below the threshold of armed conflict;
6. A summary of obstacles identified that hinder the Department's ability to achieve the objectives of such strategy;
7. A summary of organizational reforms the Department has implemented or considered to achieve the objectives of such strategy;
8. A summary of efforts to integrate the Department's activities with partners and allies, international organizations, and other non-government entities;
9. A summary of the Department's efforts to track progress on meeting the objectives of such strategy.

National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2021

Offered by Mr. Waltz:

In the appropriate place in the report to accompany H.R. 6395, insert the following new Directive Report Language:

West African Airlift Support

The committee notes the importance of maintaining presence in West Africa for counterterrorism efforts and partner capacity building and further recognizes the need to provide U.S. forces on the ground with vital resources for mission accomplishment and life support, especially for quick evacuation of wounded personnel. The committee encourages the Department to evaluate the operational resources needed to support these missions while also providing adequate assurance for the safety of U.S. servicemembers and partner nation forces. Any reduced force levels in Africa could have an impact on the ability of troops on the ground to receive needed airlift support, especially casualty and medical evacuation (CASEVAC and MEDEVAC) support, and would increase risk to American lives. Therefore, the committee directs the Secretary of Defense to provide a briefing to the House Committee on Armed Services, not later than December 15, 2020, on the Department's plan to ensure airlift support for deployed servicemembers and partner nation forces in West Africa, including—

- (1) the number of remaining aircraft, both fixed-wing and rotary-wing, to support CASEVAC and MEDEVAC needs in theater;
- (2) a risk analysis to support the reduction of CASEVAC services from the levels provided in fiscal year 2019;
- (3) courses of action to maintain the safety and airlift support needs of remaining U.S. servicemembers; and
- (4) any other matters the Secretary considers relevant.

In the portion of the report to accompany H.R. 6395 titled “XII MATTERS RELATING TO FOREIGN NATIONS” insert after the section titled “Report on the Activities and Resources Necessary to Achieve the Objectives of the Indo-Pacific Reassurance Initiative” and before the section titled “Security Sector Assistance Training for Foreign Students”, the following text:

Assessment on Acceding to United Nations Convention on Law of the Seas

The committee is concerned that revisionist states seek to undermine and reshape the rules-based international order. The United States efforts to counter and deter such activities may be impacted by the U.S.’ status as a non-party to the United Nations Convention on Law of the Seas (UNCLOS). Though the United States abides by the rules of UNCLOS, the United States currently relies on customary international law and U.S. military presence to assert the principles of UNCLOS. Therefore, the committee directs the Secretary of Defense, in coordination with the Secretary of State, to submit an assessment on the impact of U.S. accession to UNCLOS to the congressional defense committees, the House Committee on Foreign Affairs, and the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations by February 1, 2021. The report shall be unclassified but may contain a classified annex. At a minimum, the report shall include:

- (1) U.S. national security interests that would be affected by U.S. accession to UNCLOS;
- (2) an assessment on the impact U.S. accession to UNCLOS would have on the ability of the U.S. military to peacefully deter conflict;
- (3) an assessment on the impact U.S. accession to UNCLOS would have on U.S. military posture and operations in the maritime domain;
- (4) the impact U.S. accession to UNCLOS would have in maintaining freedom of navigation in international seas and securing navigational freedoms and global access for military and commercial ships, aircraft, and undersea fiber optic cables;
- (5) the impact U.S. accession to UNCLOS would have in buttressing a rules-based international order;
- (6) an assessment of the impact U.S. accession to UNCLOS would have on the U.S. to counter efforts by nations seeking to reshape internationally accepted rules;
- (7) an assessment of the impact U.S. accession to UNCLOS would have on U.S. leadership in the maritime domain, the credibility of U.S. support for a rules-based approach, and U.S. influence on maritime disputes;
- (8) the impact U.S. accession to UNCLOS would have on the United States ability to work with allies and partners on maritime security issues; and
- (9) any other relevant matters that the Secretary determines should be included.

The committee further encourages the Department to deepen and expand its defense cooperation with Taiwan through practical military training and exercises, air and naval engagements, professional military education, and exchanges between senior defense officials and general officers for the purposes of enhancing cooperation, defense planning, and interoperability for the military forces of the United States and Taiwan.

Therefore, the committee directs the Secretary of Defense to provide the House Committee on Armed Services a briefing, no later than December 1, 2020, on the Department’s policies with respect to commencing bilateral military exercises with Taiwan, including naval and air exercises that would seek to enhance cross-strait deterrence, and utilizing ship visits, as appropriate. Briefing from the United States-China Economic and Security Review Commission on Cooperation with Similar Organizations Among U.S. Allies and Partners

The committee recognizes the importance and value of the United States-China Economic and Security Review Commission—created in the FY2001 National Defense Authorization Act to monitor, investigate, and report to Congress on the national security implications of the bilateral trade and economic relationship between the United States and the People's Republic of China—and the policy and legislative recommendations it provides to the Congress. The committee believes the global nature of competition with China requires the United States to work with partners and allies, and that the advice the Commission provides to the Congress would be enhanced if the Commission were to engage and cooperate with similar entities and policymakers from allied and partner nations.

Accordingly, the committee encourages the United States-China Economic and Security Review Commission to cooperate, coordinate, and converse with similar organizations and legislative bodies in allied and partner nations, such as the Security Experts at the European Commission of the European Union, on economic and security challenges posed by China and to jointly study and make coordinated suggestions, as appropriate, to their respective governments on how to respond to such challenges . The committee believes that constructive engagement with allies and partners sends a positive message of cooperation on these national security issues. Therefore, the committee directs the Commission to provide a briefing to the House Committee on Armed Services, not later than November 30, 2020, on any plans, opportunities, and challenges the Commission has for sharing its expertise and cooperation with similar organizations and legislative bodies in allied and partner nations.

National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2021

Offered by: Rep. K. Michael Conaway

In the appropriate place in the report to accompany H.R. 6395, insert the following new Directive Report Language:

Report on Audit Expertise in Remediation Services

As the Department continues to make strides in its audit readiness efforts, the committee seeks to ensure that appropriate staffing ratios for the audit remediation services used by the department are reflected in 10 U.S. Code § 240b. Currently, the statute recommends that the Department have at least half of such services performed by individuals possessing certain expertise and qualifications. The committee is interested in examining whether this staffing ratio provides the Department with adequate ability to minimize risks to sustained audit progress while maintaining needed flexibility.

Therefore, the committee directs the Secretary of Defense to submit a report to the congressional defense committees not later than February 1, 2021 evaluating the effectiveness of the staffing ratios recommended for audit remediation services under 10 U.S. Code § 240b. This report should include an assessment of current staffing ratios across the all services and agencies in the department, and should indicate whether such ratios pose advantages or risks to sustained progress on the audit. Furthermore, the report should indicate any potential advantages or risks to audit progress and sustainability created by eliminating or altering existing statutory ratios.

National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2021

Offered by: Rep. K. Michael Conaway

In the appropriate place in the report to accompany H.R. 6395, insert the following new Directive Report Language:

Prioritizing Material Weaknesses

While the committee is encouraged by the continued progress the Department has made in moving towards a clean, unmodified audit opinion, there are concerns that the current approach in closure of Notice of Findings and Recommendations (NFR) does not fully prioritize addressing material weaknesses. The committee believes that by prioritizing material weaknesses will more effectively move the Department towards the goal of a clean audit opinion.

Therefore, the committee directs the Secretary of Defense to submit a report to the House Armed Services Committee by January 31, 2021 on the Department's strategy to identify and prioritize NFRs that would have a direct tie to downgrading or remediating material weaknesses and move the Department towards the goal of a unmodified audit opinion. Included in this report the Department should explore options to modify the online dashboard to better illustrate the prioritization of material weaknesses.

In the appropriate place in the report to accompany H.R. 6395, insert the following new Directive Report Language:

Department of Defense involvement in embassy China Working Groups

The committee recognizes the global and regional challenges posed by activities of the People's Republic of China (PRC), including under the Belt and Road Initiative (BRI). The PRC utilizes its officials, diplomats, and State-owned and State-directed companies to maintain strong ties in countries with BRI projects. PRC officials use this influence to undermine United States military, diplomatic, and economic objectives, including through coercion and corruption. The committee directs the Secretary of Defense to submit a report to the congressional defense committees by February 15, 2021, on the Department of Defense's involvement in the Department of State working groups on China, including at the regional and Embassy level.

Amendment to H.R. 6395 National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2021

Offered by: Mr. Jim Banks of Indiana

In the appropriate place in the report to accompany H.R. 6395, insert the following new report language:

A report on the use of unmanned platforms to improve Taiwan's self-defense capability

The committee believes that the unique and close relationship between the United States and Taiwan has provided significant advantages to both nations' economic and strategic well-being for over 50 years. The vital security and strategic interests of the United States in the Taiwan Strait and the Taiwan Relations Act, which states that it is the policy of the United States to provide Taiwan with arms of a defensive character, has been a bedrock of this relationship. The committee commends the Department of Defense's efforts at strengthening this key relationship by working with other U.S. departments and agencies, and Taiwan, to enhance Taiwan's self-defense capability.

The committee understands that Taiwan is acquiring asymmetric capabilities to continue to improve its self-defense capabilities. Unmanned systems could create unique dilemmas for the People's Liberation Army should the People's Republic of China consider resorting to the use of force.

The committee encourages the Secretary of Defense, in coordination with the Secretary of State, to consider options to provide affordable, multi-role, medium altitude and persistent unmanned air vehicles for its defense. Further, the committee directs the Secretary of Defense to provide a briefing to the congressional defense committees by February 1, 2021, to include the following:

- (1) A discussion of how the transfer of defense articles, such as unmanned platforms that can provide persistent ISR and maritime domain awareness, would enhance Taiwan's Overall Defense Concept;
- (2) A summary of the Department's efforts to assist Taiwan in effectively integrating ISR capabilities into its military forces; and
- (3) An assessment of how unmanned systems could improve Taiwan's self-defense capabilities, including to threats presented by the People's Republic of China.

Amendment to H.R. 6395 National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2021

Offered by: Mr. Jim Banks of Indiana

In the appropriate place in the report to accompany H.R. 6395, insert the following new Directive Report Language:

Commercial Items Group supporting Procuring Contracting Officers in making Commercial Item Determinations

Congress established the Commercial Items Group (CIG) under section 831(b)(2) of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2013, to support procuring contracting officers (PCOs) in making commercial item determinations (CIDs) and under section 873 of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2017, directed the Department of Defense to centralize the expertise and analysis necessary for the use and development of CIDs. Since then, the CIG has served in this capacity within the Defense Contract Management Agency. However, in its Fiscal Year 2021 budget submission, the Department proposed divesting DCMA of the CIG without offering an alternative that would meet its statutory requirement. Further, the Department's long-term strategy for commercial item and price reasonableness analysis remains unclear. Without a clear approach to procuring commercial items, including understanding how commercial item determinations have been made, the Department foregoes an opportunity to streamline and strengthen its acquisition processes.

Therefore, the committee directs the Under Secretary of Defense for Acquisition and Sustainment to, not later than October 1, 2020, brief the House Armed Services Committee on their proposed way forward to continue to comply with statutory requirements as well as meet the intent of centralizing the process of commercial item determinations as well as the decisions, and providing expertise and assistance to acquisition staff in commercial item acquisitions.

The committee notes that the administration has yet to deliver the interim reports that were directed as report language in the FY2020 National Defense Authorization Act on Russian and Chinese influence operations and active measures campaigns targeting democratic elections and military alliances and partnerships of which the United States is a member. The Secretary of Defense was directed to provide interim reports not later than November 5, 2019, and final reports not later than September 30, 2020, which shall be unclassified and appropriate for release to the public but may include a classified annex. Such information is vitally important to the Congress' ability to provide resources for and conduct oversight of election security efforts and to inform the general public of such influence operations and campaigns by adversaries.

- (3) the United States' strategy and capabilities for detecting, deterring, countering, and disrupting such influence operations and campaigns.
- (4) a summary of United States support requested by and provided to state, local, and nongovernmental stakeholders to assist in their ability to detect, deter, counter, and disrupt such influence operations and campaigns.

In the appropriate place in the report to accompany H.R. 6395, insert the following new Directive Report Language:

Briefing on the Consequences of Capping the Number of U.S. Service Members Stationed in Germany at 25,000

The committee is gravely concerned that the President has stated he intends to significantly reduce U.S. troops in Europe and cap the number of permanently stationed U.S. military personnel in Germany at 25,000, but has provided no notification, assessment, or explanation of this decision directly to Congress. The committee strongly supports U.S. efforts to deter Russian aggression along side NATO allies and European partners, and believes a cap on U.S. forces in Germany would have major implications for U.S. force posture, training and readiness, and deterrent capabilities. Therefore, the committee directs the Secretary of Defense to provide the congressional defense committees with a briefing, no later than September 1, 2020, on the impact that a cap of 25,000 on the total number of members of the Armed Forces serving on active duty who are deployed to or stationed in Germany, would have on U.S. national security, to include:

1. Whether such a cap is being implemented, along with the details, rationale, and circumstances of its implementation.
2. Whether the cap and reduction of forces envisions further reductions of forces in Europe, and the terms, rationale, and national security implications of any further envisioned reductions.
3. A determination of whether such a cap would be in the national security interest of the United States and whether it would significantly undermine the security of United States' allies in the region.
4. Whether the Secretary has appropriately consulted with allies and partners of the United States, including all members of NATO, regarding such a cap,
5. A detailed analysis of the impact such a cap would have on the security of U.S. allies and partners in Europe and on interoperability and joint activities with U.S. allies and partners in Europe.

7. A detailed plan for how a cap would be implemented.
8. A detailed analysis of the cost implications of such a cap.

9. A detailed analysis of the impact the cap would have on servicemembers and their families stationed in Europe.

Airfield Capabilities in GPS Denied Environments

The committee supports the ongoing efforts by the Department of Defense to ensure military forces are trained and equipped to conduct combat operations across the range of potential threat environments identified in the National Defense Strategy. As the Department works to prepare military forces to conduct operations in non-permissive and denied threat environments, the committee seeks to ensure that the Department can conduct all-weather, day-night airfield flight operations in scenarios where the global positioning system (GPS) signal is denied or degraded. Therefore, the committee directs the Secretary of Defense to provide a briefing to the House Committee on Armed Services not later than February 1, 2021 containing an assessment of the Department's ability to conduct all-weather, day-night flight operations in GPS-denied environments at military airfields overseas. This assessment will include: (1) a description of air traffic control and landing systems that utilize GPS at existing Department of Defense airfields and contingency airfields in the U.S. Indo-Pacific Command and U.S. European Command areas of operation; (2) an assessment of the Department's ability to conduct all-weather, day and night flight operations, including aircraft tracking and precision landing, at such airfields in a scenario where GPS is degraded or denied; and (3) a description of the Department's actions to improve aircrew training and other measures to mitigate risk at such airfields.

Plan to Address Obsolete MIL-PRF-19500 Discrete Parts

The committee recognizes the important role that military specification semiconductor devices perform in a broad array of space, satellite, and strategic defense applications. These components form the backbone of critical defense and space designs by providing power and control to satellite, aircraft, and missiles and must be able to withstand environmental stress such as extreme temperature, radiation, shock, and vibration. The committee is aware of possible disruptions to the supply of over three thousand critical components that meet MIL-PRF-19500 specifications as production ceases or domestic fabrication is relocated outside of the United States. Therefore the committee directs the Under Secretary of Defense for Acquisition and Sustainment to provide a report to the House Committee on Armed Services no later than January 31, 2021 on the status of the domestic supply chain for MIL-PRF-19500 qualified discrete parts and the sustainment plan for maintaining access to these qualified parts. The committee further notes that the report called for with similar Directive Report Language in the Fiscal Year 2020 National Defense Authorization Act has yet to be produced. A single report, as outlined above, will suffice to fulfill both requirements.

In the appropriate place in the report to accompany H.R. 6395, insert the following new Directive Report Language:

Secure Supply Chain for Niobium

Niobium oxides are important for defense and commercial applications. Recognizing this, the Department of Interior deemed niobium as one of 35 critical minerals vulnerable to supply chain disruption, the “absence of which would have significant consequences for our economy or our national security.” The U.S. imports niobium from nations subject to political pressures and instability, which creates risk for supply chain disruption.

Accordingly, the committee directs the Secretary of Defense to brief the House Committee on Armed Services by February 15, 2021 detailing the actions necessary in order to establish a domestic processing capability for niobium oxides. The Secretary should consider leveraging established critical mineral supply chains, including niobium’s twin element tantalum, to provide needed supply chain security.
