In the appropriate place in the report to accompany H.R. 4909, insert the following new Directive Report Language:

Condition-Based Maintenance on Navy Surface Ships

The committee notes that in 2013, the Department of the Navy established policy directing the integration of Condition-Based Maintenance (CBM) on ships, ship systems, and equipment. The committee understands that CBM has been successfully implemented on aircraft, helicopters, military and commercial vehicles, and trains and has demonstrated cost savings and increased operational readiness. However, the committee has learned that, with the exception of Littoral Combat Ships (LCS), the Navy has not implemented condition-based maintenance on its surface ships. The committee further notes that the CBM demonstration initiative for amphibious ships to address long-standing diesel readiness issues has been stalled for more than three years.

The committee directs the Secretary of the Navy to brief the House Committee on Armed Services by June 30, 2016, on the status of implementing CBM on Navy surface ships. The committee expects this briefing, at a minimum, to address the implementation plan for amphibious ships.

Amendment to H.R. 4909

National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2017

Offered by Congresswoman Bordallo

In Title 3, Items of Special Interest, Logistics and Sustainment Issues in the report to accompany H.R. 4909, insert the following new Directive Report Language:

Integration of Operational Contract Support Matters in Joint Training Programs

The committee is aware that Department of Defense recently conducted its third Joint Staff-sponsored Operational Contract Support (OCS) exercise. The committee applauds efforts by the Joint Staff Director of Logistics to advance senior-leader awareness of OCS and the need to integrate consideration of OCS into doctrine, policy, and strategic guidance. However, the committee is concerned that while the joint force commander is undeniably reliant on contract support to accomplish strategic and operational ends, consideration of OCS, and its associated risks and benefits, has yet to be integrated into the organizational structure of the geographic and functional combatant commands. As a result, the commanders and their staffs lack the ability to integrate OCS requirements into operational plans, assess OCS readiness, and identify operational and strategic risks associated with reliance on contract support. Furthermore, exercise and training activities related to OCS have been focused on the acquisition and logistics communities, with little warfighter awareness, interest, or involvement.

Therefore, the committee directs the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff to incorporate OCS matters (such as planning, requirements determination, risk analysis, contract support integration, readiness assessments, and contractor management) into all joint training programs designed to establish foundational competence in the conduct of campaigns and major operations. The committee believes that this directed focus on OCS in joint training programs will enable the joint force to leverage contract support to achieve operational and strategic effects and may reduce risks associated with reliance on contracting in contingency operations.
