

Paul M. Lewis

Paul M. Lewis is the Department of Defense Special Envoy for closing the detention facility at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba. Special Envoy Lewis was appointed to this position by Secretary of Defense Hagel in October 2013. Prior to this appointment, he served as General Counsel and Minority General Counsel for the House Armed Services Committee.

Special Envoy Lewis also served as the Director, Office of Legislative Counsel (OLC), Office of General Counsel, Department of Defense, from 2008-2010. Previously, was also the counsel to the Chairman of the House Ethics Committee.

Special Envoy Lewis received his undergraduate degree in History from the University of Notre Dame in 1980. After his graduation from Notre Dame Law School in 1983, he served as a judge advocate in the United States Marine Corps, an Assistant District Attorney in the Manhattan DA's office and as a trial attorney in the Organized Crime and Racketeering Section of the Department of Justice. He is admitted to the bars of New York, New Jersey and other federal jurisdictions.

Special Envoy Lewis is an adjunct professor at Georgetown University, where he currently teaches "Introduction to Ethics" and "Ethical Issues in American Politics". He also regularly lectures on ethics and congressional investigations at Georgetown Law School and George Washington University Law School.