

TERESA M. KENNY

Teresa M. Kenny is starting her third term as Supervisor of the Town of Orangetown in Rockland County, New York, having been elected as the first woman Supervisor in the 225-year history of Rockland County.

As Supervisor, Teresa's mission is to promote open, fair and efficient local government, to respond to residents' concerns and suggestions, and to oversee the performance of all Town departments.

Before becoming Supervisor, Ms. Kenny served as an attorney for Orangetown, a part-time position which she held for over 23 years, and operated her own law practice in Nanuet, New York, where she specialized in real estate law.

Teresa grew up in Rockland County and graduated from Clarkstown North High School. She went on to obtain her bachelor's degree in Criminal Justice at Iona College and her Law Degree from St. John's University School of Law. Upon graduation from law school in 1990, Ms. Kenny was employed as an attorney for Consolidated Edison Company of New York. She left Con Edison in 1996 to start her own law practice.

Ms. Kenny is licensed to practice law in both New York and New Jersey and is admitted to the U.S. District Court and the Southern District of New York. She also serves as a Commissioner of the Rockland County Sewer District No. 1 and the Rockland County Solid Waste Management Authority.

In her spare time, she trains for running events, having completed numerous marathons, half-marathons, and a half-ironman triathlon. Teresa and her husband live in Pearl River, New York, in the home where they raised their two children.
