

Scott Talbott is Executive Vice President at the Electronic Transactions Association (ETA) in Washington, D.C. and is responsible for its governmental strategies, and directing ETA's all of policy and advocacy efforts in DC, the states, and Canada. He also runs ETA's Industry Affairs Department, responsible for ETA's business policies. Talbott has over thirty years of experience advocating for the financial services and FinTech industries. He has received numerous accolades in his tenure, including being named a top lobbyist by The Hill for fifteen years in a row from 2009 to 2024, as well as a "winner" for his work during the economic crisis of 2008

by Washingtonian magazine. In 2010, he appeared in the Oscar-winning film "Inside Job." Once named NPR's favorite bank lobbyist and the voice of the financial services industry, he frequently testifies before U.S Congress, in state capitols, and the Canadian Senate, and is a regular contributor to both national and international media. Talbott received his B.A. from Georgetown University, cum laude, and his J.D. from George Mason University School of Law. Scott is also an ETA CPP.