

Kate Bronfenbrenner

Kate Bronfenbrenner is the Director of Labor Education Research and a Senior Lecturer at Cornell University's School of Industrial and Labor Relations where she does teaching and research on union and employer strategies in organizing and bargaining in the global economy; labor, race, and gender; and capital mobility. Bronfenbrenner, who received her Ph.D. from Cornell in 1993, is the co-author and editor of several books including Global Unions: Challenging Transnational Capital through Cross Border Campaigns; Union Organizing in the Public Sector: An Analysis of State and Local Elections; Organizing to Win: New Research on Union Strategies; and Ravenswood: The Steelworkers' Victory and the Revival of American Labor. Before joining the Cornell faculty in 1993, Bronfenbrenner was an Assistant Professor in Labor Studies at Penn State University and worked for many years as an organizer and union representative with the United Woodcutters Association in Mississippi and with SEIU in Boston. She has received many top awards including the George D. Levy Engaged Teaching and Research Award, General Mills Exemplary Teaching award, Kendal S. Carpenter Advising Award, IRRRA Young Scholar Award, Robert N. Stern Mentoring Award, John Commerford Labor Education Award, Ernest DeMaio Award, and three Cornell Merrill Presidential Scholar Awards.