

Michael Alcorn is an experienced retail employee who has become an advocate for pro-worker policy after experiencing a divisive, deceptive and one-sided unionization of his Trader Joe's store. He worked hard to expose the hardships that he and his co-workers were forced to endure as a result of forced representation. He has been published in National Review, The Wall Street Journal, and The Washington Examiner. In May of 2024 he was invited by Chairwoman Virginia Foxx to testify before the House Subcommittee on Health, Employment, Labor, and Pensions. He holds a Masters degree in Vocal Performance from the University of Cincinnati and currently resides in Clarkston, Michigan. He is a Visiting Fellow with The Institute for the American Worker.