

Dr. Jacob Agronin, MD is a cardiology fellow completing his training in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. He received his undergraduate degree and MD from the George Washington University in Washington, DC, before completing his internal medicine residency training in Philadelphia.