

Mr. Mason Bishop, Nonresident Fellow, American Enterprise Institute, Washington, D.C. Mr. Bishop focuses on workforce development, the reform of employment and skills development programs, and career and technical education. Concurrently, Mr. Bishop is the owner and principal at WorkED Consulting, where he works specifically on postsecondary preparation and credentialing, entrepreneurship, and workforce development tailored to the high-tech economy. He also serves as President of QA Commons, a nonprofit dedicated to the integration of employability skills into education and career readiness programs. From 2001 to 2007, Mr. Bishop served as Deputy Assistant Secretary for employment and training at DOL, where he led national workforce policy efforts and initiatives and oversaw key workforce investment programs. Earlier in his career, he coordinated the legislative efforts to create Utah's Department of Workforce Services. Mr. Bishop has completed his doctoral coursework in public policy at George Mason University, and has a master's in public administration and a BA in political science (with a minor in economics) from Brigham Young University.