

Renu Mukherjee is a Fellow at the Manhattan Institute, a think tank dedicated to advancing opportunity, individual liberty, and the rule of law in America and its great cities. Her research focuses on education, affirmative action, public interest groups, and political and policy attitudes among racial minorities in the U.S., particularly Asian Americans. Renu is also a Ph.D. candidate in political science at Boston College, where she is currently writing a dissertation on public opinion surrounding affirmative action. Her writing has appeared in the New York Times, Wall Street Journal, New York Post, City Journal, and numerous other outlets. She is a proud alumna of the College of the Holy Cross in Worcester, MA, from which she graduated summa cum laude.