

Stephen M. Boyle, M.S.Ed, is the Co-Founder and Executive Director of 2-4-1 CARE, Inc., a nonprofit organization that partners with schools and communities to expand access to play-based youth sports. A former school counselor and multisport coach, Mr. Boyle has spent more than 30 years working at the intersection of education, athletics, and youth development. His work focuses on increasing participation, building physical literacy, and supporting healthy development through school-centered and community-based programming. Under his leadership, 2-4-1 programs have served thousands of children across multiple states and internationally. Mr. Boyle holds a Master of Science in Education in School Counseling from the University of Hartford and a bachelor's degree from Manhattan College, where he was a Division I varsity basketball player.
