

Mark P. Lagon

Mark P. Lagon is President of Freedom House. From 2010 through 2014, Lagon was the Chair for Global Politics and Security at Georgetown University's Master of Science in Foreign Service Program, and Adjunct Senior Fellow for Human Rights at the Council on Foreign Relations. He was previously Executive Director and CEO of the leading anti-human trafficking nonprofit, Polaris. He earlier served at the State Department as U.S. Ambassador at Large, directing the Office to Monitor and Combat Trafficking in Persons, from 2007 to 2009. He was previously Deputy Assistant Secretary in the Bureau of International Organization Affairs, with responsibility for human rights, humanitarian issues and United Nations reform.

Lagon received both his M.A. and Ph.D. in Government from Georgetown University, and an A.B. from Harvard University. He is the author of numerous articles on international affairs and co-editor of the recently released book Human Dignity and the Future of Global Institutions.

OUTSIDE PUBLICATIONS:

Human Dignity and the Future of Global Institutions

Democracy Takes a Global Hit, Wall Street Journal

The U.S. Government Turns a Blind Eye to Policies That Fuel Sex Trafficking, The Washington Post

Putting Human Rights in Iran Front and Center, The Hill

Democracy Is Retreating in the United States Too, Wall Street Journal

Dignity Over Dictators -- To Truly Sustain Development, Huffington Post

Congress, Make AGOA Work, The Hill