

Ambassador (ret.) Reuben E. Brigety, II, Ph.D.

Ambassador (ret.) Reuben E. Brigety, II is the 17th Vice-Chancellor and President of Sewanee, The University of the South. From 2015-2020, he served as the Dean of the Elliott School of International Affairs of The George Washington University.

Ambassador Brigety's most recent diplomatic assignment was serving as the Representative of the United States of America to the African Union and Permanent Representative of the United States to the UN Economic Commission for Africa from September 2013 to September 2015.

Ambassador Brigety is a 1995 Distinguished Midshipman Graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy, where he earned a B.S. in political science (with merit), served as the Brigade Commander and received the Thomas G. Pownall Scholarship. He also holds an M.Phil. and a Ph.D. in international relations from the University of Cambridge, England, as well as a Doctor of Humane Letters (honoris causa) from Old Dominion University.

Ambassador Brigety is a Fellow of the American Academy of Diplomacy, a Life Member of the Council on Foreign Relations, and a member of the Board of Trustees of the National Endowment for Democracy.