

PETER M. MANIKAS

Peter M. Manikas has served as Senior Associate and Director of Asia Programs at the National Democratic Institute (NDI) for the past 20 years. Previously, he was NDI's chief of party in Bangladesh, Cambodia, Indonesia and he earlier worked on Southern Africa programs.

Before joining NDI full-time, Mr. Manikas was a consultant to the chairman of the U.N. Commission of Experts for the former Yugoslavia, and served as Senior Fellow in international human rights law at DePaul University College of Law's International Human Rights Law Institute in Chicago, Illinois. He is the co-author of a treatise on the law applied by the U.N.'s International Criminal Tribunal at The Hague, and has written more than 20 publications on international law, elections and public policy. He has also served as a consultant to the U.N., World Bank and the United States Agency for International Development on human rights and governance issues and has advised the World Bank on anti-corruption programs.

Mr. Manikas, a lawyer, previously served as the Executive Director of a court reform commission established by the Illinois Supreme Court in the aftermath of a major judicial scandal. Between 1988 and 1991 he held the position of Research Social Scientist at Northwestern University's Center for Policy Studies, where he worked on legal system reform issues. Earlier, he was the legislative assistant to a U.S. congressman in Washington D.C.