

David O. Shullman is Senior Advisor at the International Republican Institute, where he oversees IRI's work addressing the influence of China and other autocracies on democratic institutions and governance in countries around the world. Dr. Shullman is also an Adjunct Senior Fellow in the Transatlantic Security Program at the Center for a New American Security.

Prior to IRI, Dr. Shullman served for nearly a dozen years as one of the US Government's top experts on East Asia, most recently as Deputy National Intelligence Officer for East Asia on the National Intelligence Council. He earned his PhD in Political Science from UCLA, a MALD from the Fletcher School at Tufts University, and a BA in Government from Georgetown.