

Barbara Feinstein

Barbara Feinstein serves as Acting Senior Deputy Assistant Administrator within USAID's Bureau for Latin America and the Caribbean (LAC). A career member of the Senior Executive Service, Feinstein oversees the Agency's development priorities in Central America, Mexico, and the Caribbean. Before joining the LAC Bureau, she was the Senior Deputy Assistant Administrator for Legislative Affairs in USAID's Bureau for Legislative and Public Affairs. Before that, Feinstein served as deputy chief of staff to USAID Administrator Rajiv Shah, chief of staff and senior policy advisor to USAID Acting Administrator Alonzo Fulgham, and special assistant to USAID Administrator Henrietta Fore.

Feinstein has served on the professional staff of the House Appropriations Subcommittee on State and Foreign Operations and the House International Relations Committee of the United States Congress.

Feinstein has served in various capacities at the Departments of State and Defense. She has a Master's degree in International and Public Affairs from Princeton University and a Bachelor of Arts in Latin American Studies, Spanish and Portuguese from the University of California-Berkeley.

Feinstein speaks Spanish and Portuguese.