

Rebecca L. Heinrichs

Rebecca Heinrichs is a fellow at the George C. Marshall Institute, which is a non-partisan, non-profit organization that provides science-based research for the purpose of affecting public policy. She has concentrated her research in the areas of nuclear deterrence and missile defense. She is also the owner of Praxis Consulting LLC, which provides policy consultancy to interested organizations.

Rebecca has held fellowships at the Heritage Foundation and the Foundation for Defense of Democracies. She has also worked as the Military Legislative Assistant to Congressman Trent Franks (R-AZ) and helped found the House Missile Defense Caucus.

She has written for major newspapers such as The Wall Street Journal, The Los Angeles Times, The Washington Times, and Investor's Business Daily as well as political journals such as Politico and The Hill. She has also provided commentary on CNN and FoxNews.com.

Rebecca has presented research before numerous organizations including the Center for Strategic and International Studies, Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, the Aerospace Industries Association, the Reserve Officers Association, the National Defense Industrial Association, the Foundation for the Defense of Democracies, and to staff of the U.S. House of Representatives and U.S. Senate.

She holds an M.A. in National Security and Strategic Studies from the U.S. Naval War College and a B.A. from Ashland University in Ohio.