

Ms. Eman Moankar

Ms. Eman Moankar serves as the Communications & Advocacy Director for CARE International supporting the MENA region based in Amman, Jordan. Eman has lengthy and diverse experience working in international and humanitarian affairs in the MENA region since starting in 1997 with the International Committee of the Red Cross, followed by service with UN agencies as a Regional representative, and working with the International Council of Voluntary Agencies before joining CARE. Early in her career, her work focused in the fields of protection, detention and administration and since 2006, she has specialized in management, strategic communication, and advocacy.

Eman has worked in various complex and volatile environments in the Middle East, North Africa and South East Asia—where representing and negotiating on behalf of the ICRC was at the forefront of her duties. In her role with ICVA as a regional representative she led and managed a diverse membership of the ICVA network and supported their advocacy efforts with key policy makers in the region and globally including UN agencies, member states, the world bank, donors and regional bodies such as the Arab League, the Organization of Islamic Cooperation and the King Salman Center. Eman has worked, in Iraq, Yemen, West Bank/Gaza, Jordan, Libya, Egypt, Thailand, Cambodia, Vietnam, Laos and Geneva.
