

Jessikka Aro

Jessikka Aro is a Finnish journalist working for Finland's public service broadcaster Yle. In 2014, Aro began to investigate pro-Russian Internet trolls at the Internet Research Agency (IRA). Her groundbreaking research helped shed light on Russian trolls and Russian information warfare against the West. In 2019, Aro was notified she was to receive a State Department International Women of Courage Award, but this was rescinded just before the ceremony.
