

Dr. Susan M. Natali is the Arctic Program Director and a Senior Scientist at Woodwell Climate Research Center. She is an Arctic ecologist, who studies permafrost thaw and northern latitude fire and the resulting effects on local landscapes and the global climate.