

Cormac Savage is a member of the Harvard College Class of 2025 studying Government and Romance Languages. He is the Founder and current Honorary President of the Secondary Students' Union of Northern Ireland, a Union representing 50,000 students in Northern Irish schools that changed the way education policy is made in Northern Ireland - now including young people in its design. During his tenure as the Union's President, the organization earned negotiating rights and won 8 successful campaigns, publishing 3 reports. He is a former trustee of the British Youth Council, the UK's national youth organization umbrella body and represented South Down in the UK Youth Parliament, winning two Paul Boskett MBE Awards for speeches given at the annual UK House of Commons sitting. He was ranked Northern Ireland's 73rd biggest newsmaker of the year 2021, is a recipient of the Michaela Foundation Wings Award, Inspirational Young Person YAFTA Award and was appointed an advisor to the British government on how to ethically commemorate the culturally contentious centenary of the partition of Ireland.