

Chai Ling is the Founder and president of All Girls Allowed---in Jesus' name simply love her, an organization dedicated to restoring life, value and dignity to girls and mothers, and to revealing the injustice of China's One-Child Policy. Chai Ling was a co-leader of the 1989 Tiananmen movement and was put on the most wanted list. She spent 10 months in hiding before she came to freedom. She holds a Master of Business Administration from Harvard and a Master of Public Affairs at Princeton. Chai Ling founded Jenzabar, a leading software provide for colleges and universities, and she is a board member for the Jenzabar foundation, which supports student leaders in making our world a better place.

Chai Ling is the author of: A Heart for Freedom.