

Education Must Continue
Initiative (EMCI)

Bio for Escaped Chibok Schoolgirl “Sa’a”

“Sa’a” is one of the 276 Schoolgirls Who Was Kidnapped from the Government Secondary School in Chibok by the Terror Group Boko Haram 2 years ago, but escaped by jumping off of a truck. Before attending the Chibok Secondary school, she also survived an earlier Boko Haram attack. When Sa’a survived first attack at her previous Government Secondary School in Bama, her parents decided to move her and enroll her in the Chibok Secondary School because they thought that it would be a safer place to continue her education. Accordingly, Sa’a has twice escaped from Boko Haram attacks on her schools.

Sa’a is attending college in the US under a project by the Education Must Continue Initiative (www.emcinitiative.org) – a charity run by victims of the insurgency for victims of the insurgency. Sa’a is the pseudonym that she uses for her protection.

View “Sa’a’s” Escape Story at:

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=xat2T31waGM&ebc=ANyPxKppl-O34ufoc6MxvmXKgeuRTy-V6Nu_8-U38hnsxwKjN6DqYRoSLVjjnrSFvhhJmBsw80TzynrtaBfjzCbDMrYKFmXPVg&nohtml5=False

