

Hearing on “The Effects of Climate Change in Africa”
U.S. House of Representatives
House Foreign Affairs Committees
Subcommittee on Africa, Global Health, and Global Human Rights

Todd Moss, Ph.D. Biography

Dr. Todd Moss is executive director of the Energy for Growth Hub, a nonprofit global research network dedicated to a high-energy future for everyone. He is also a nonresident fellow at the Center for Energy Studies at Rice University’s Baker Institute, the Payne Institute at the Colorado School of Mines, and the Center for Global Development. Todd previously served as a Deputy Assistant Secretary of State and has worked at Georgetown, and the World Bank. He is the author of African Development: Making Sense of the Issues and Actors as well as Oil to Cash: Fighting the Resource Curse with Cash Transfers. Todd’s PhD is from the University of London’s School of Oriental and African Studies.