

Hearing on “Examining the Realities of Russian Activities and Influence in Africa and Its Effects on the Continent”

U.S. House of Representatives

House Foreign Affairs Committees

Subcommittee on Africa, Global Health, and Global Human Rights

Ms. Candace Rondeaux (Ron-Doe)

Candace Rondeaux is the Director of the Future Frontlines program at the New America Foundation. Based in Washington, DC, she is also a Professor of Practice at the Center on the Future of War in the School of Politics & Global Studies at Arizona State University, and lectures on conflict studies at the Elliott School of International Affairs at George Washington University. She writes a regularly for the World Politics Review and the Daily Beast on the intersection of emerging tech, political violence, and geopolitical competition.

Before joining New America, Rondeaux served as a senior program officer at the U.S. Institute of Peace. She has documented and analyzed political violence in South Asia, and around the world for the Washington Post and the International Crisis Group. She holds a B.A. in Russian area studies from Sarah Lawrence College, an M.A. in journalism from New York University, and an M.P.P. in public policy from the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs at Princeton University.