

Donald K. Sherman serves as President and CEO of Citizens for Responsibility & Ethics in Washington (CREW) and is a leading expert in government ethics, the rule of law and anti-corruption policies. Donald has previously served in several oversight and policy roles, including as Special Assistant to the President at the White House Domestic Policy Council, as Senior Counsel on the Senate Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs Committee, as Chief of Staff in the Office of General Counsel at the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, and as Chief Oversight Counsel to the House Oversight Committee's late Ranking Member and Chairman, Rep. Elijah Cummings. Donald began his career on Capitol Hill as counsel on the non-partisan staff of the House Ethics Committee. Donald also practiced law in the Washington, DC office of Crowell & Moring, LLP and was law clerk to the Honorable Neal E. Kravitz of the District of Columbia Superior Court.