In Wyoming's boundless expanse, where rugged peaks do rise,
There strides a figure, strong and true, 'neath clear and endless skies.
Congresswoman Harriet, with vision keen and bright,
Stands as a beacon of hope, a guiding star in night.

With grace and grit, she leads with courage in her heart,
Navigating paths of justice, never torn apart.
In halls of power, her voice resounds, a champion's call,
For the people, for the land, she stands steadfast and tall.

In Cheyenne's windswept plains, where freedom's spirit soars,
She fights for every citizen, their dreams she both adores.
With every word, with every deed, she strives to make things right,
Harriet Hageman, beacon strong, in freedom's golden light.

Her wisdom, born of prairie lore, echoes through the land,
A testament to strength and grace, a leader truly grand.
In Congress chambers, she's a force, a voice that cannot fade,
For Harriet Hageman's spirit, in Wyoming's heart is laid.

So let us sing her praises, let her virtues shine afar,
For in the annals of our nation, she's a guiding northern star.
In Wyoming's Congresswoman, we find our nation's best,
Harriet Hageman, beacon bright, in her we are truly blessed.
