Mother of Chad Carr

The ChadTough Foundation

Tammi Carr is the Co-Founder of The ChadTough Foundation, formed in 2015 after the passing of her son, Chad, of Diffuse Intrinsic Pontine Glioma (DIPG). Tammi spent more than a decade (2002-13) fundraising for Mott Children's Hospital, which opened the doors of their new children's hospital in 2011 and is among the nation's top children's hospitals. Prior to fundraising, she worked at Turner Sports and CMU Public Broadcasting in television production. Tammi earned a double major in communications and psychology from the University of Michigan.
