

Antonia Okafor Cover is the National Director of Women's Outreach and a national spokesperson for Gun Owners of America. She is a certified firearms instructor and range safety officer that specializes in working with women, particularly those from a traumatic background. As a sexual assault survivor, she believes her calling in life is to empower women and minorities through gun ownership. In 2017, Antonia became the founder of Empowered 2A, a national organization that educates and equips women to seek empowerment through the Second Amendment. The organization originally started as a college-age only women's organization which led her to speak at over 20 universities across the United States.

Antonia began her 2nd Amendment activism journey as a graduate student at the University of Texas at Dallas in 2015. It was at that time she advocated for the passage and implementation of the concealed carry-on campus –the so called “campus carry” bill in Texas as the Southwest Director of Students for Concealed Carry. Her leadership resulted in the successful implementation of the bill as an overseer and watchdog to make sure that all Texas universities applied the full letter and intent of the law into school policy. Her written work has been published by the New York Times, NBC Universal, Fox News, Austin-American Statesman, and The Hill. Antonia appears regularly on media outlets such as CNN, Fox News, BBC, Al Jazeera America, One America Network, TRT World, Sinclair Broadcast Group/WJLA, Newsmax, and the Black News Channel as a 2nd Amendment commentator.

The Universities she's spoken at include: Yale Law, Berkeley, UMass-Amherst, Harvard, Mt. Holyoke, Norte Dame, and many others. Among Antonia Okafor Cover's titles, the most important ones in her life are wife, mother of two , and a believer in Jesus Christ.
