

Michael German is a fellow with the Liberty and National Security program at the Brennan Center for Justice at New York University Law School. He served sixteen years as a Special Agent with the Federal Bureau of Investigation and seven as a civil rights lobbyist with the American Civil Liberties Union. He has taught courses on terrorism and civil liberties at the FBI National Academy, the National Defense University, and John Jay College of Criminal Justice. He is the author of, “Thinking Like a Terrorist: Insights of a Former FBI Undercover Agent,” and the forth-coming, “Disrupt, Discredit, and Divide: How the New FBI Damages Democracy.” He received a B.A. from Wake Forest University in 1985, and a J.D. from Northwestern University Law School in 1988.