

Nick Marinos, Director, Information Technology and Cybersecurity

Nick Marinos is a Director in GAO's Information Technology and Cybersecurity team. He leads audit teams that perform government-wide and agency-specific reviews in the areas of cybersecurity, critical infrastructure, privacy, and data protection across all major federal agencies. As part of his responsibilities, Nick leads GAO's ongoing evaluation of the systems readiness and cybersecurity issues in preparation for the 2020 Census. Nick recently led GAO's effort to update its cybersecurity high risk area, issuing a September 2018 report that identified 10 urgent actions that the federal government and other entities need to take to address the nation's cybersecurity challenges. Nick earned an MBA in information systems and technology and a bachelor's degree in business information technology, both from Virginia Tech. He serves on the Virginia Tech MBA and BIT advisory boards at the Pamplin College of Business. Nick is a certified information privacy professional.