

Tony Ewing, President and Owner of Advanced Fixtures, Inc. (AFI), is a Texas entrepreneur dedicated to his community. He founded AFI in 1983, starting small but growing it into a thriving industry leader with over 150 employees and a cutting-edge production facility.

AFI is renowned for its unwavering commitment to reliability, technological advancement, and customer service, setting the industry standard with a zero back-order policy.

In addition to his role at AFI, Tony has successfully ventured into various industries, including liquor and banking. His adaptability and success are evident, most notably through his purchase of Coker Equipment, rebranded as EdgeTec in 2021.

Furthermore, Tony's strong community commitment is exemplified by his role on the Lt. Governor Dan Patrick Business Advisory Board since 2016. He also co-founded and serves as Treasurer of the Community Engagement and Opportunity Council (CEOC) since 2021. CEOC's mission is to revitalize American communities through sports, mentorship, and economic opportunities.

Outside of work, Tony finds joy on his North Texas ranch with his wife and three children, as well as indulging his passion for snow skiing in Colorado. Tony Ewing's journey embodies the values of hard work, dedication, and community responsibility, inspiring all who have the privilege of knowing him.
