

Steve Feldgus is the Deputy Assistant Secretary for Land and Minerals Management at the Department of the Interior, where he oversees a number of agencies including the Bureau of Land Management and the Office of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement, and served as the lead staffer for the Interagency Working Group on Mining Regulations, Laws, and Permitting. Prior to joining DOI in the Biden administration he was the Deputy Staff Director for the House Natural Resources Committee, specializing in mining and energy issues, and has also previously worked for the Bureau of Land Management, the Bureau of Safety and Environmental Enforcement, and various offices during 16 years of working in Congress. He has a Bachelor's degree in Chemistry from the University of Massachusetts and a Ph.D. in Physical Chemistry from the University of Wisconsin.