

Mr. Ryan M. Rawding, Vice President, Pangiam.

Mr. Ryan Rawding is the Vice President for Pangiam Government Solutions, leading business intelligence and development strategy for government and industry clients.

Mr. Rawding previously served as the Acting Assistant Director of CBP's National Targeting Center (NTC) where he had oversight and leadership of a mission critical unit that conducted in-depth research and analysis related to terrorism, national security interests, trade-based money laundering, alien smuggling, illegal migration, narcotics, visa waiver fraud, and fugitives. Mr. Rawding held progressive roles in his years at the NTC with oversight and leadership of over 400 officers, contractors, and employees.

Mr. Rawding managed the team responsible for innovative technology developments utilized by the entire agency, recommended system enhancements, worked with programmers to seek out and develop new systems, and fine-tuned name matching algorithms for targeting efficiency. He led the incorporation of facial recognition, machine learning, predictive modeling, artificial intelligence, robotic processing automation into daily workflows while leveraging emerging technologies for mission effectiveness. Mr. Rawding began his career at a CBP as an officer serving at John F Kennedy airport and served 13 years as a CBP officer with distinction.

Mr. Rawding also has over 21 years of service in U.S. Coast Guard Reserve working in operational compacity in the areas of port and waterways security, vessel security boardings, counter-narcotics, and migrant interdiction operations.