Stephanie Turner, 31, is a fencer of twelve years within the United States Fencing Association (USFA). On March 25, she took a knee during a USFA-sanctioned fencing bout at the University of Maryland in protest against a male athlete in her women's tournament. The Cherry Blossom Open was a Division 1A Women's Foil tournament sanctioned by the USFA. The video of that protest went viral.

She currently lives and trains in Philadelphia.
